

Controlled Remote Viewing

With Mike Webster

Loch Lomond - Scotland - UK – April 21st-25th 2010

The accelerated CRV training offered by Mike covers the 6 stages of Controlled Remote Viewing (CRV) in 5 days, and strictly follows the protocols developed by Ingo Swann and documented by Paul Smith. Each day, one or more of the six stages of CRV will be covered.

Each morning includes recap and practice sessions.

In the afternoons students will complete at least one new monitored session whilst practicing the sequential stages of CRV with the instructor(s)

Stage 6 practice culminates in students producing a 3-dimensional model of their target site. (Artistic ability is not a requirement)

Training is given by one-to-one coaching with the tutors through power-point presentations, handouts, examples, demonstrations, exercises and hands-on practice.

Students need to ensure that they are rested and relaxed prior to the course, as it is quite intensive. The class venue is non-smoking, although a smoking area is provided outside.

Venue – Loch Lomond – April 21st - 25th 2010 10am – 5pm approx each day. The fee of £550 includes refreshments, and lunches at Loch Lomond, and all course and training materials.
